While the style of the game is pretty decent, the rest is pretty bad. First of all the music is horrible. There's music that gets on your nerves quickly and then there's the soundtrack to this game. It's atonal and the rhythm doesn't match the 'melody' at all. To top it all off the controls are atrocious. You only have keyboard controls that aren't rebindable and the attack button is F while you move around with WASD.

There's an okay idea in the game somewhere, but the execution is very bad.. Horrible jumping mechanics are utterly unforgivable for a platformer, especially one made in 2016.

You float through platforms, you run slowly and painfully, can not attack and run at the same time.

I wasted painful minutes on this game, the only plus side to this being that I am now those minutes closer to death.

A death which can not come soon enough, since having experienced this game I have not only lost my will to live and lost $1.09 CAD.

I will see you in hell, developer. A hell which will be far more enjoyable than this game.. Painted Legend is an Indie platformer that revolves around a drawn fairy tale world come alive on grid paper. The graphics are simple but pretty endearing and that combined with a gameplay that is forgiving its a game for most people to play and do well in. The controls are done on a-s-d-w and f as there currently is no controller support. There are 9 different characters combined where the majority needs to be unlocked but with little to no gameplay difference from what i could tell. Besides of that there is two skills that can be bought by collecting ingame coins. The game has 3 modes campaign, Halloween Quest 2016 and an easter egg pixelated and simplified old school version of the game. Overall i liked the game but the character does seem a bit slow in his movements and the simple gameplay may deter some people from playing it. The game has 17 achievements and all are doable in a fairly short amount of time. I think for a game that costs 1 euro its actually a pretty decent game as i had my fun with it for a few hours but with a bit of tweaks and changes it could certainly also have been a better game. Ill rate it 6/10 in its genre.. \udb40\udc21. This game is wonderful specially the art and the music! :D
